RDCK monitoring fuel spill after Kootenay Pass crash

Nelson, BC: The Regional District of Central Kootenay (RDCK) is monitoring the situation involving a single-vehicle crash on Highway 3 at the Kootenay Pass yesterday evening that spilled a significant amount of fuel into the Salmo River. The driver of the vehicle was killed in the crash, and there were no additional injuries. The provincial environmental emergency response team is assessing the situation.

“The RDCK Emergency Management team is in contact with our partners at the Province and with the RCMP, and we are monitoring the situation,” said Chris Johnson, Emergency Program Manager at the RDCK. “Our role is to stay in contact with the Ministry of the Environment and Interior Health to ensure the safety of the public.”

Fuel and other hazardous material spills can happen on land or in the water. If water sources are affected or if communities are otherwise threatened, the public will be advised about what actions they should take.

Updates will be provided if needed via the RDCK website, Facebook and Twitter.

Highway 3 over the Kootenay Pass is currently closed. Drivers should visit www.drivebc.ca or follow @DriveBC on Twitter for further updates about road closures and detours.
